

ANIMAL ORIGIN POSITION STATEMENT

Statement regarding the (non) Use of Animal-Derived Ingredients in our Products

Animal Derived Compounds

We hereby confirm that to the best of our knowledge our products ranges are not formulated to contain any substances derived from animal origins.

Nevertheless, we cannot state with absolute certainty that the use of, or processing of, the upstream materials has not been done completely free of or in the presence of animal-derived materials, nor that there may be any animal derived materials for which we are not aware.

Non-Animal Testing

It is not our policy to test our products on animals. We therefore confirm that the products we sell have not been subject of animal testing for any purposes by or on behalf of our company.

However, the products are formulated from standard chemicals widely available on the European market. European legislation governs the supply of these chemicals and also any requirements regarding animal testing, which are out of our control.

We stay at your disposal for any further questions.

Best regards,
